

JLCS Listserv

From Jared Mummert (he/him) <[REDACTED]>

Date Mon 7/28/2025 10:03 AM

Cc Sandra Nichols Thiam <[REDACTED]>; Helene Krasnoff (she/her) <[REDACTED]>

2 attachments (543 KB)

Outlook-ycqsauzf; Fox News Story 7.17.2025.pdf;

Good Morning,

I hope that you are well and had a nice weekend. We are writing to let you know that a few months ago, we learned that through a technical error, the messages on the .io listserv that was set up for the first cohort of Judicial Leaders were publicly available (at least for some period of time). We immediately fixed that and have subsequently shut down the listserv (which was last used in May 2024). We reviewed all of the messages and found none that were concerning.

However, as you know, CJP has been the subject of interest from some politicians and segments of the media. We recently learned that Fox news had at least some of the messages and published the attached story, which named Judges Scheele and Laster, and quoted some of the emails from the group. While we do not know for sure, we now have to assume that Fox news (and others) have all of the messages.

I am reaching out to you because you sent a message on the listserv. As a result, they are able to identify you as a member of the group (we believe they cannot see all members' names, but they can see the names of any member who sent emails).

Again, we do not have any concerns about the substance of the messages, but if you would like to see the messages you sent, I am happy to send them to you. And if you have any questions about this or anything else, please reach out to either Helene or Sandy.

We are sorry to be sharing this news and appreciate all you do.

Best,

Jared Mummert (he/him)
Manager, Climate Judiciary Project | Environmental Law Institute
1730 M Street NW | Suite 700 | Washington DC | 20036

