

GOVERNMENT SPEAKER RELEASE

This is to confirm that the undersigned has agreed to participate as a presenter in the Environmental Law Institute ("ELI") seminar ("the Seminar") entitled:

Judging in a Changing Climate: Lessons from Water Courts

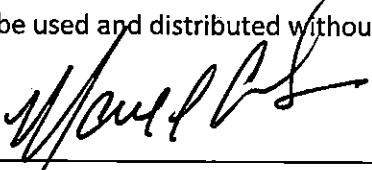

The Presenter acknowledges the presentation and/or written materials has been authored by a U.S. government employee acting within his or her official capacity, and therefore falls under the coverage of 17 U.S.C. § 105.

The Presenter acknowledges that ELI has the right to use the Presenter's name, persona, photograph, biography, voice, likeness, speaker presentation, and/or written materials in connection with the Seminar.

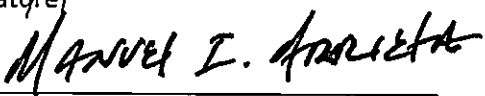

The Presenter acknowledges that ELI has the right to edit the presentation and/or written materials, but does not obligate ELI to publish the Presenter's presentation or other materials.

The Presenter represents that the presentation and/or written materials are original to the Presenter and to the best of the Presenter's knowledge do not infringe upon any copyright, proprietary right, or any other right whatsoever of any party and that the Presenter has made no agreements inconsistent with this Release. The Presenter further represents that to the best of the Presenter's knowledge the presentation and/or written materials contains no matter that is scandalous, obscene, or libelous or otherwise contrary to law.

The Presenter hereby acknowledges and agrees that ELI has the right to broadcast live video content, reproduce, and/or distribute any video, audio, written, or visual materials submitted or made in connection with the Seminar, and to make the presentation and/or written materials available in physical and electronic form, including mounting a copy of the presentation and/or written materials on media servers where the presentation and/or written materials may be copied, downloaded, and/or printed by persons accessing the servers, and acknowledges the presentation and/or written materials may be used and distributed without seeking further the Presenter approval.

GRANT OF LICENSE

I, MANUEL I. ARRIETA, ("Licensor") do hereby give, grant, and convey to the Environmental Law Institute ("Licensee") a license for my presentation and materials for the Associates Seminar in which I participated ("the Seminar"), entitled:

Judging in a Changing Climate: Lessons from Water Courts

The license conveyed is for my oral presentation, any and all materials in print or recorded in any digital, electronically retrievable format (jointly and separately referred to as "the Work"), and: my name; photographic, video, or voice images; title; name of employer; and biographical information.

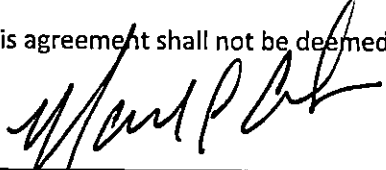

This license is conveyed on an irrevocable and non-exclusive basis to Licensee: (a) to publish worldwide in the English language all materials, documents, display presentations, outlines, or any other textual material prepared for or presented to the Licensee for use in the Seminar and to authorize Licensee the right to reproduce, republish, distribute, adapt, and publicly display the Work in whatever format and in whatever manner as it may so choose; and (b) to record my presentation in any visual and audio recording formats and to prepare or authorize its live broadcast, reproduction, distribution, adaptation, and public presentation in whatever format that the Licensee may choose or authorize.

Licensee may make use of the Work for additional educational purposes in whatever visual, audio and print media it may so choose including video, print, digital audio, CD-ROM, or online via the internet provided that in any and all such media, Licensee identifies Licensor as the author of the Work or any portion of the Work used in any media.

Licensor retains the same rights in the Work as the Licensee. Such retained rights of the Licensor are reserved in all languages, forms, and media.

By signing below, I, the Licensor, represent and warrant that the Work is original and/or that I am authorized by its copyright holder to authorize Licensee's use of it as stated herein. I attach or will cause to be sent to Licensee written consent from any other copyright owner of a portion or all of the materials submitted as my Work authorizing their republication and use in the Seminar.

This agreement shall not be deemed to create a work for hire.
