Subject: September in-person session -- Travel information

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organization. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe.

Greetings, Judicial Leaders in Climate Science, from The National Judicial College! It was wonderful to see so many of your faces on the June 24 webinar. I hope you enjoyed it.

As the date for our September in-person session is on the horizon, I want to share some important information and reminders with you.

But first, please join me in congratulating and extending best wishes to our friend and classmate Stacy Boulware-Eurie, who earlier this month was nominated by the Governor to serve as an Associate Justice of California's Third District Court of Appeal. According to the press release, the position requires confirmation by the Commission on Judicial Appointments, which consists of Chief Justice Tani Cantil-Sakauye, Attorney General Rob Bonta and Senior Acting Presiding Justice Ronald Robie (who, as it happens, is a pioneer in California environmental jurisprudence).

Now for the logistical information on the September session, so you can begin to make your travel arrangements:

Dates – The dates for the course sessions are Monday September 12 through Wednesday September 14, 2022. You should therefore plan to arrive by Sunday evening, September 11.

Lodging - Accommodations will be at the HOLIDAY INN, FALMOUTH, located at 291 Jones Road, Falmouth, Massachusetts, about half a mile from Falmouth Hospital. NJC has block-booked rooms. We will add your name to the room block once you have advised us of your confirmed travel reservations. PLEASE NOTE: THE HOTEL IS HOLDING THE ROOM BLOCK OPEN ONLY UNTIL AUGUST 11, 2022. IF WE DO NOT HAVE YOUR TRAVEL CONFIRMATION BY THEN, WE CANNOT GUARANTEE THAT A HOTEL ROOM WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR YOU.

Closest Major Airports – The two closest major airports are:

- Logan Airport in Boston, Massachusetts, and
- T.F. Green Airport in Providence, Rhode Island.

You should book your flight reservations, which you can either do on your own (and subsequently submitting reimbursement requests) or by using the National Judicial College's travel agent, Becky Rose, at [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]. N.B. If you are thinking of booking your return flight on Wednesday night following the end of the session, please be aware that you will only be able to make a night flight, as it will take approximately two (2) hours to travel by motor vehicle to either airport.

Airport Transport – Please review the following information carefully.

For those who do NOT need transportation to and from the airport: If you are planning on staying on past the end of the conference to enjoy Cape Cod in glorious late summer weather and/or decide to rent your own car (or make your own personal alternative travel arrangements) at Logan or T.F. Green, please let me know, so I don't include you in the group transport arrangements. Please note that we will not be reimbursing the cost of such private transportation arrangements from Logan or T.F. Green, but if you drive yourself we will reimburse at the NJC's per mile rate for the distance between the airport and the hotel. Similarly, for those of you living within driving distance of Cape Cod who plan to drive to Falmouth rather than subject yourself to the vagaries of air travel, we will reimburse your mileage to and from your point of origin at NJC's per mile rate.

For those who DQ need transportation to and from the airport: If you need transport to and from Logan or T.F. Green, we will be making arrangements for SUV or van transportation from the airports Sunday afternoon/evening to the hotel and back to the airports on either Wednesday night or Thursday.

IMPORTANT: In order efficiently and cost-effectively to make these travel arrangements, we will need your flight information and arrival/departure times so that we can coordinate pickups for groups of people. So once you have made your flight reservations, please send me that information promptly.

Venue for Course Sessions – Course sessions will be held at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute and the Woodwell Climate Research Center. We are arranging van transportation between the course venues and the Holiday Inn each morning and evening.

Tuesday Group Dinner - I have made reservations for a group dinner Tuesday evening, September 13, at 7:00 p.m. at a lovely restaurant on Main Street in downtown Falmouth, La Cucina Sul Mare. We will be seated in a large outdoor tent the restaurant maintains. I personally checked out this venue and had a lovely meal. (Well, someone had to take one for the team!)

In a future e-mail, I will send along a special conference menu with your food choices for appetizers, entrées, and desserts that evening.

The restaurant is just under a mile from the Holiday Inn, so in good weather it's eminently walkable, but if it's raining we can arrange some combination of taxis, Ubers, and carpooling with the help of those with their own cars.

Dress Code - You can't go wrong with business casual. However, Cape Cod is used to summer vacationers, so please feel free to bring casual attire! Temperatures one week after Labor Day should still be mild to warm (but historically not hot), and cool and breezy in the evenings. Of course, it's far too soon to predict Cape weather months in advance. You, as Climate Leaders, are certainly well aware of climate uncertainties! Please plan on checking the weather forecast for Falmouth, Massachusetts shortly before you start packing your suitcase for the trip.

If you have any questions about the foregoing, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Best regards,
Keith
