Aloha Meridith,

Thank you for your email and update.

As you can guess, we are very busy with all the preparations.

Very glad you will be coming to the Symposium and delighted that you are taking advantage of the great opportunity you have to speak to the CCJ.

Please RSVP for our Symposium using this form:

Regarding transportation, we are providing transportation for speakers from the Holiday Inn Express but not for non-speakers or from the Sheraton, at this time. Uber/Lyft are very efficient. I will send you the updated Programme later today.

I will loop you into to as much as I can and also list you at the end of the Programme, along with Paul and Sandra, as part of the ELI guest delegation.

Thanks!

Denise

Aloha, [REDACTED] -

I am looking forward to attending the Symposium as part of the ELI delegation. I know that Scott Fulton, ELI's president, recently spoke with Michael Wilson about it. Do you need me to provide any additional information for registering?

Because I will be speaking at the Conference of Chief Justices event taking place from February 2 through 5, I have already arranged to stay at that conference hotel (the Sheraton Waikiki) for the dates of both conferences (arriving Jan 30). I think several of the state justices who will be attending both conferences are probably also registered at the Sheraton Waikiki. Is it possible for me to talk briefly with you about the logistics of getting back and forth to the Supreme Court and the Law School? Please feel free to email me back or to text or call me on my cell phone at [REDACTED]. I am available on the cell until about 11 pm Eastern time (6 pm for you). Thank you very much.
