Hi [REDACTED] (and friends) — Thank you for this invitation. I really hate to miss this, but I fear I must. The combination of the INECE conference just before and some conflicting travel to Europe has made it impossible for me. Jay Pendergrass and Carl Bruch from my office will be at the Congress representing ELI and me. They are both on the agenda already, but either can be called upon to substitute for me for the keynote that the agenda associates with me. In this regard, it's worth nothing that Carl Bruch, who runs ELI's international program, was the principle author of UNEP's seminal Environmental Rule of Law report. Many regrets and just as many thanks for your understanding. Best, Scott
