

From: Environmental Law Institute [REDACTED]
Subject: People Places Planet Podcast Presents: DOJ's Environment & Natural Resources Division
Date: March 2, 2023 at 11:32
To: Denise E. Antolini [REDACTED]

The Enforcement Angle: DOJ's Environment & Natural Resources Division

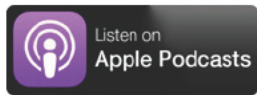

The United States has an intricate system of laws, regulations, policies, and programs to respond to environmental and public health concerns. Enforcement is vital to that system's effectiveness. The U.S. Department of Justice's Environment & Natural Resources Division is tasked with enforcing the United States' civil and criminal environmental laws, including the Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, and hazardous waste laws. Their mission also involves the protection of the Nation's natural resources and handling cases relating to tribal rights and resources.

In the latest episode of People Places Planet Podcast, Justin Savage, a Partner and the Global Co-Leader of the Environmental practice at Sidley Austin LLP, and Nicole Noelliste, a managing associate at Sidley Austin LLP, talk with Todd Kim, the Assistant Attorney General of the U.S. Department of Justice's Environment and Natural Resources Division, and Kate Konschnik, Principal Deputy Assistant Attorney General of ENRD. To listen, visit www.eli.org/podcasts or find us on your favorite podcast app.

The episode is part of The Enforcement Angle series, featuring conversations about state and federal enforcement of environmental laws and regulations with senior enforcement officials enforcement of environmental laws and regulations with senior enforcement officials and thought leaders on environmental enforcement in the United States and globally.

People Places Planet Podcast provides the public, environmental practitioners, and our members with cutting-edge, thought-provoking conversations about current issues central to environmental law and governance. Our podcasts build upon the pivotal role ELI has played in shaping the fields of environmental law, policy, and management, domestically and abroad, over the last 50 years.

Was this forwarded to you? Would you like to subscribe? Sign up now!

Unsubscribe from ELI bulk marketing emails

Unsubscribe from all ELI bulk emails including ELR Update and ELR—The Environmental Law Reporter

Environmental Law Institute. Copyright 2023
1730 M Street, NW
Suite 700
Washington, DC 20036
United States
