Dear all,

The Environmental Law Institute hopes that you and your students can join us for an exciting public webinar on "The Future of Environmental Law: Pathways for Impact in a Rapidly Changing World."

We've entered a new geopolitical era that is changing how environmental law is understood, made, implemented, and enforced across the world. How is this new era of environmental law different from the past 35 years? How can environmental law adapt to this rapidly changing context, and what pathways could drive impact? Does this shift make environmental law more or less relevant in the years ahead? Please join the Environmental Law Institute and expert panelists for a webinar discussing these questions and more.

Moderator: Sandy Thiam, Vice President for Research and Policy Programs, Environmental Law Institute

Speakers:

Carl Bruch, Director, International Programs, Environmental Law Institute

Patricia Kameri-Mbote, Director, Law Division, United Nations Environment Programme

Christina Voigt, Chair, IUCN World Commission on Environmental Law; Professor of Law, University of Oslo

Timing: Friday, April 17, 2026: 10:00 - 11:30am ET
